

Jona

100% Costa Rican born and bred, Jonathan holds an industrial engineer degree and is experienced in developing businesses, researching and teaching. He is the co-founder of Innova Solutions Group, an organizational development consulting corporation, which has helped several local and international companies to improve. He speaks fluent English and when not working with clients, your best bet is to find him playing soccer. At 6 feet, Jona is quite possibly the tallest tico (Costa Rican) you will ever meet! He loves to travel inside and outside of his country.